

Recognizing Behaviours

Autism Canada's Recognizing Behaviours Training offers insights into how individuals on the spectrum may react in complex situations. This information aims to equip responders with understanding, fostering more empathetic and positive outcomes.

Why take this training?

With 1 in 50 people in Canada diagnosed on the Autism Spectrum, it is crucial for a broader audience to comprehend autism, particularly those who regularly engage with individuals on the spectrum or may encounter them in emergency situations.

Enhanced comprehension of neurodivergence and autistic responses empowers organizations and individuals to be well-prepared, fostering positive outcomes for both responders and individuals on the autism spectrum.
