

Social Awareness

FOR CAREGIVERS AND PEERS OF CHILDREN AND YOUTH

Autism Canada's Literacy Program for Social Awareness among Caregivers and Peers provides practical strategies to enhance positive interactions with individuals on the autism spectrum. The program's primary goal is to cultivate a secure and inclusive environment, creating a positive impact on all participants involved.

Why take this training?

In Canada, 1 in 50 individuals is diagnosed on the Autism Spectrum, underscoring the importance of increasing awareness of autism, particularly for those who regularly engage with individuals on the spectrum, especially in potentially challenging or emotionally charged situations.

Promoting a deeper understanding of neurodivergence and autism fosters inclusivity and awareness, enabling connections across diverse cultures, personalities, and backgrounds.

Let us teach you:

- What is autism?
- What are the different levels?
- What is sensory processing?
- Understanding boundaries
- What are special interests?
- Social cues and conversations.
- A unique kind of friendship.
- Parents helping parents.
